

KLOVE radio station (100.1 FM in the San Diego area) serves me and my family as a resident of the local community. San Diego area citizens are generally "conservative" in their views and beliefs and a large percentage of the community are Christian. Despite this fact, the number of radio stations that serve the conservative Christian can be counted on one hand. If KLOVE were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster with other programming it would be a tremendous blow to the community. It is in the public interest NOT to displace KLOVE radio station.
